Why First Aid training is vital to your organisation

First aid responders can be a crucial component to saving lives in any emergency situation in your workplace.

In turn, increasing employee retention, minimising legal complications and creating a safer work environment for all.

01

Proactive emergency prevention

When an emergency arises, trained individuals are more likely to act immediately, assessing the situation and providing potentially life-saving assistance until professional help arises.

02

Save money on new hires

First aid training improves workforce retention by demonstrating a company's commitment to employee safety and well-being. It boosts morale, fosters loyalty, and creates a sense of security among staff.

03

Maintain compliance standards

If you work in an industry like mining, health, education, community services, construction etc. it is mandatory to have First Aid qualified staff on the books, and the number of First Aid qualified staff members required is dependent on the size of your organisation.

Flexible options to suit your business.

Our training is available as a blended learning solution, combining online and face-to-face delivery to make First Aid training as accessible as possible and cater to the diverse needs and schedules of your organisation.

We offer:

Onsite Training or facilitated accessible venue

We can come to your workplace for your convenience. We bring the required equipment.

Our trainers are available to travel within the Metropolitan region to your workplace to conduct half day certified CPR or full day First Aid courses. We can also offer the training at our South Perth office, located just off Canning Highway, free parking onsite. We provide all the equipment required (mannequins, defibs, First-Aid kits, gloves, face shields, sanitising wipes, mats).

For external training sessions the room requirements are - suitable to up to 16 people + trainer, access to TV / projector and HDMI cable to connect our laptop.

Blended Face to Face and Online Learning modules

All AITS First Aid training courses combine online and in-person components to accommodate busy schedules.

Both First Aid training and CPR refresher are comprised of an online quiz component and in person face-to-face demonstrative training. Everyone who comes through the AITS First Aid training programs will get hands on experience in dealing with emergency first aid and CPR scenarios from knowledgeable and certified trainers.

Multiple dates

For larger organisations we can arrange multiple sessions.

For practical reasons, we limit our sessions to a maximum of 16 participants per session. For larger organisations we can arrange multiple dates of training and work with the organisations management and scheduling to ensure minimum disruption to the business operations.

Annual and Tri-Annual Renewals

Ensure your team remains compliant with regular CPR (annual) and First Aid (tri-annual) training.
